MODES OF TRAVELLING.

The New York Observer, in an article under the above head, recalls a feature of travelling in bygone days; another states were the chief means of locomotion:

At what particular time the first coach was set up in this country we are unable to state, but our own recollections are of that period when the full tide of successful operation. The leading arteries of travel ran from Boston to Albany—from that city to Buffalo, which route was made famous by the opposing Pilot and Eagle lines; and there was a westward continuation to Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis; there was also an important route from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh, the turnpike between those cities having been the first, in point of time and magnitude, built in this country; another from Baltimore and Washington, which intersected at Frederick and ran over the celebrated Cumberland turnpike to Wheeling; another still in Virginia, running along the base of the Blue Ridge to Tennessee; several extensive and admirable routes through Kentucky and Tennessee; a great Southern line, leading from Washington to Montgomery, in Alabama; and, of course, a very busy and crowded route between Washington and New York. The vehicle in best repute was that known as the Troy or Concord coach, holding nine passengers inside, with four or five on the outside, without crowding, and drawn by four or six horses. The relays were from ten to fifteen miles apart, and the speed varied, according to the roads, from seven to ten miles per hour. When travellers were in a hurry they took the regular mail coach, which went directly through without stopping at night, but the majority of people preferred the extra or passenger coaches, whose drivers were not afraid of the Post-Office Department, and always carried over-night at certain localities. For example, it was customary for all the coaches to leave Washington at 9 o'clock in the morning; but, while the mail was bound to arrive in New York on the following evening, the passenger who had seats in the extra coaches enjoyed a night's rest both in Baltimore and Philadelphia, and did not reach New York until the close of the third day. During the stage-coach era the competition which sometimes prevailed was only equalled by the immense enterprise manifested by the proprietors. The sums of money expended in the business were frequently enormous, and those particular companies or individuals who enjoyed the patronage of the Government seldom failed in making money. A mail contractor of the first class was a kind of nabob in the land, and the people subject to his will, or anxious to secure his patronage, were numbered by the thousand. First came the army of drivers or coachmen, then the stable-men and tavern-keepers, the horse-dealers and the farmers, with their grain and forage, as well as the coach-builders. If the machinery of this mode of travelling was so extensive as to make the leading manager of the whole enterprise a kind of potentate, it is also true that the mental satisfaction and comfort attending even a long journey were all that could be reasonably desired. The stage coach brought men in close contact, kept them together until they were well acquainted and inaugurated many lasting friendships. In no other kind of vehicle do we remember to have seen such beautiful girls and noble matrons, such wise and good old men and such jolly companions; and some of the best stories, the most charming bits of personal history and the most wonderful adventures that we have heard were related to us in a coach. Who that has ever journeyed in one of them with the mail over a pleasant route, can forget the sights and sounds and incidents of the way? First came the gentle tapping at your chamber door long before the break of an autumnal day, the breakfast by candle-light, the friendly words at parting, the strapping of your trunk in the box, and then the tumble into the huge vehicle, with its impatient horses and its rattling driver. With the approach of daylight came the scrutinizing looks and careful words between the passengers, the turnpike was lined with cultivated farmers and the horses are being "saddled," you have a little chat with a sturdy yeoman. When you approach a village the coachman gives an extra flourish to his whip, and, driving directly through its principal street, comes to a halt, with a grand flourish, before the tavern, and during the ten or fifteen minutes occupied by the postmaster in changing the mail you have a chance to become acquainted with a score or two of the worthy villagers; another drive, another village, and then comes the dinner, the superb dinner, sumptuous and hot, with the smiling landlord wielding the carving knife, like a very prince of good fellows. Off again, and then for a few hours the houses and the trees and the fields pass you like the pictures of a dream, the rolling of the wheels becomes a kind of murmur in your ear, the driver blows his horn to warn the stableman at the next station of his approach, but to you it is an uncertain sound; and after another brief halt, away you go again—now wide awake—down through a beautiful valley, gleaming in the evening sunshine; at twilight you pass through a lonely forest and become thoughtful; then comes the supper, with the luxuries peculiar to the locality; and during the long night which follows you are lulled to sleep by the trotting of the horses, the rolling of the wheels and the tinkling of the harness, all melted into a continuous and soothing sound. On the approach of day you wake, and behold all around you is a wilderness of mountains, perhaps the Alleghanies.

Rough business now lies before you, and when you arrive at the breakfasting place, the new coachman (several of whose predecessors, during the night, you have not even seen) seems not to be in any particular hurry, and you have ample time to enjoy a refreshing wash and a quiet meal. The landlord points to the lowering clouds along the mountains and shakes his head; the driver's horn horn has sounded for the last time, and all the passengers are in their seats; a crack of the whip, and the mail is on its way over the mountains. It is now all a painful ascent, and the horses stop to regain their breath; upwards again, and you leave the driver, shouting to you, "One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen, sixteen, seventeen, eighteen, nineteen, twenty, twenty-one, twenty-two, twenty-three, twenty-four, twenty-five, twenty-six, twenty-seven, twenty-eight, # THE WEYMOUTH WEEKLY GAZETTE.

THE WEYMOUTH GAZETTE.

FRIDAY, OCT. 2, 1898.

AND, BY THE WAY, THE GAZETTE is the only authorized agent for the sale of the Weymouth Weekly Gazette, and all receipts given by him will be acknowledged.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

Every one knows, I suppose, that our community is dependent in a great measure, for protection against grave crimes, upon the Grand Jury of the County and the Dist. Atty. It is the duty of the latter to prepare the indictment, examine and present the testimony pertaining to the particular case, and instruct the Grand Jury as to the law of the case under consideration, after which the Grand Jury exercise their discretion whether to return a bill of indictment or not. This being an indictable case presented, this being the case, I should like to call the attention of your readers to a case that occurred at this last session of the criminal Term of Norfolk, and to let the public, the creator of these above mentioned officers, pass upon the question whether some one has not been derelict in the duty they owe to this community.

One James McCormick was found one morning last April asleep in the store of A. J. Bates & Co., of Braintree. He was awakened upon his being ascertained that the store had been broken into, and packages removed by some one. McCormick stated that the reason of his being found there was that he was coming down the street from East Braintree when he met two men who solicited him to break into the store. They handed him keys, which he used, and he helped put ladders to the window. He smashed in the window glass, got inside, and handed goods to his accomplices, who carried them away. (McCormick refusing to divulge their names.) After that, feeling a little sorry for the fumes of whiskey and the exercise of the occasion, he laid down for a nap, slept too long and was found there. Under these facts, no indictment was found against him. Now I do not know anything about the technicality of this matter, but it strikes me that if this man is let go at all, it is under the startling proposition, accepting McCormick's statement to be true, that a man half drunk, careless and reckless, can become a breaker and enter of stores, and escape any punishment for the same because of drunkenness. I have heard it said by good lawyers that drunkenness was no defence to criminal charges, but it seems that our officials think it is, so my friends who are before committing the crime you have in mind, and so long as you remain in this country, you are exempted from any punishment.

I think for one that we had better have reform or a change of masters in these offices, for it is too serious a matter to be left to the whim of parties who are either too ignorant or too stubborn to do their duty properly.

A SURPRISE.—One evening last week I was very much surprised at the unexpected entrance of a large party of neighbors and friends. And while it seemed to add to their enjoyment, it only increased my embarrassment to find that I alone was in the dark. Light came, however, as I was politely requested to take a seat near a table, on which the following articles were laid: a beautiful black Alpaca dress; a box containing a very pretty handkerchief and a greenback, also pretty; the complete poetical works of Longfellow and Whittier; the "Amber Gods" by Harriet E. Prescott; and "Wood Gathers" by Gail Hamilton. These were presented by my brother, and very gratefully received, although my surprise was such that I did not collect my thoughts sufficiently to thank my kind friends; nevertheless, I was thankful for the gifts, and especially for the kind feelings which prompted them.

Fearing that I never may be able to make a like return to all, I can only hope that our Heavenly Father may give to each that most beautiful of all garments, even the spotless robe of Christ's Righteousness, and though their names may never be found in books which men have written, may one and all be written in the Lamb's book of Life.

L. MARIA PRATT.

Mr. Editor.—In the report found in the columns of last week's Gazette of the political demonstration at the Landing on the evening of Monday, the 21st inst., it will be observed that no mention was made of the flag raising opposite the ninth district School House on Keith St. But from the fact that the reporter mentions the brilliant illumination of the dwelling and factory of R. K. Pratt, it seems evident that his optics were dazzled to such an extent that he either failed to see the Point or else considered that the illustrious names of Grant & Colfax were not worthy of notice upon a seven foot flag, because of its inferior size.

A REPUBLICAN.

THE FAIR of the Weymouth Agricultural and Industrial Society on account of the unpleasant weather, was continued through Thursday, and though the day was but little better, in point of weather, than the preceding one, a large number assembled to witness the trotting and ball playing which were the features of the day.

The first race in the morning was between Mr. Jesse Sprague's "Mike," Mr. Charles Williams' "Charley," and Charles A. Richards' "Nellie," mile heats, best two in three. Nellie won first and third heats and the premium, Mike second. Best time 3:27.

The afternoon's proceedings commenced with a procession of about forty teams, headed by Cushing's six-horse team, conveying the band. It was a handsome cavalcade. The band then escorted the Liberty Square Base Ball Club of South Weymouth, and the Pilgrim Club of Abington to the grounds where a spirited match was played, in favor of the Pilgrims, 51 against 25.

Mr. Augustine Fogg was the competitor in equestrian exercises. Premium $5. Master John R. Barrows, the second premium of $3 was awarded.

Next came a trotting match for colts, best two in three, heats of half a mile each, premiums $5 and $3. There were two, William E. Thompson's No Name, Dan F. Barrow's Lady Cassius. The latter won two heats—time 1:38, 1:36.

A double team race, two in three mile heats, premiums $10 and $5, next took place. These were Alexis Torrey's Commodore, and mate and J. H. Clapp's Billy and mate. Billy and mate won the two first heats and the race—time 3:06, 2:59.

The next race for trotting horses was open to all comers. Best three in five, mile heats, premium $50. The competitors were Pompey's Emperor, driven by Charles Richards, and Mr. W. Clegg's Brown Prince, driven by the owner. Emperor won the three first heats and the race. The horses trotted splendidly and nearly together during the whole race. Time 2:35 1-2, 2:42 1-4 and 2:40.

The fun of the occasion culminated in the last race between "Muff," driven by the colored servant of E. S. Hunt, and the horses of two other contestants, one of the latter teams running down the "contraband," he, nothing daunted, continued his slashing career and received the second prize.

The Weymouth Band added to the pleasure of the occasion by playing the grand concert and ball given by Union Engine Co. No. 1, at Braintree Town Hall, last Friday evening, met with a limited response from the public, in consequence of the rain, but the programme was carried out in a spirited manner by the managers. The selections performed by Stetson's Weymouth Brass Band were as follows:

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

A caucus of the Democrats of this town was held at the Town Hall Friday evening, Sept. 24, and the following gentlemen were appointed delegates to attend the Congressional Convention at Quincy, Oct. 6, and also the Senatorial Convention.

A. P. Nash, Ziba Chesman, Alvah Raymond, Jr., L. H. Lord, Wm. M. Cornick, Henry Newton, Abner Paine, Alanson A. Holbrook, Lovell Bicknell, P. W. Cronin, Albert Tirrell, 2nd, Lemuel Torrey, Austin Tirrell, Edw. Nolan, Leonard B. Tirrell, Abner Holbrook, Alvin Vining.

The delegates to the Senatorial Convention were instructed to vote for Alvah Raymond, Jr., as the Democratic Candidate for State Senator in the Norfolk and Plymouth district.

A meeting of the Seymour and Blair Club will be held at the Town Hall, Monday, Oct. 5, at 7 1-2 o'clock. All favorable to the election of Seymour and Blair are invited to attend.

THAT COMICAL BROWN.—Those who believe (and who does not) in the old adage, "laugh and grow fat," should prepare to pucker, for that comical Brown, the chap that makes everybody "smile out loud" is to give one of his laughable musical treat at Lincoln Hall, Weymouth, Tuesday, next Thursday evening, Oct. 8th, when he will be assisted by Mr. William Hayward, the popular ballad singer, and one of the finest vocalists in the country. On Wednesday evening Oct. 7, Mr. Brown sang at South Weymouth, where as usual he will doubtless have a crowded house. Those who want seats must go early for there is always a rush to hear Brown. The programme this season is entirely new and very spicy.

SURPRISE PARTY.—Recently a number of the Hingham friends of Mr. Webster Burrell, of East Weymouth, conceived the plan of surprising that gentleman at his residence, which was carried into execution on Friday evening last. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather on that evening, a large party gathered in Haskins' mammoth omnibus, which was attached four horses, under charge of Mr. Osgood Wilder. The company comprised some of the most prominent citizens and their wives of the West part of the town, and were accompanied by the Hingham Brass Band, which was engaged to discourse music on the occasion. Arriving safely at Mr. Burrell's residence, they quietly took to make themselves at home. Mr. B. was completely surprised, and after recovering himself, heartily welcomed his friends, although, in the generosity of his heart, he regretted that he had not received reasonable notice of the event, in order that he might entertain his friends in the shape that he would wish.

His remarks, however, in this direction were cut short by the arrival of a wagon filled with abundance of the choicest edibles, thus utterly relieving the mind of Mr. B. in this respect. After indulging in social pleasures for a short time, and listening to music and singing, the company assembled in the dining room, and partook of the elegant and bountiful collation which they had prepared. It is needless to say that it was heartily appreciated by all present. The remainder of the evening was cheered by music by the band, lively conversation, games, &c. But the best times must have an end, and the large company, after the customary hand clapping and "good nights," left for their homes, with delightful memories of a most pleasant and successful occasion. (Hingham Journal.)

KILLED BY THE CARS.—A man named Abel Higgins of Hanover, in attempting to get on the train after it had started at the South Hanover station on Tuesday morning last, was caught between the car and the platform and so badly crushed that he died almost instantly. The unfortunate man was highly esteemed in the community in which he resided and his untimely death has cast a gloom over a large circle of friends and acquaintances. He was about twenty-four years of age and leaves a widow.

SHOP-BREAKING.—Last Saturday night the manufacturing shop of Mr. Albion Hall was entered through a window in the rear part of the shop, and two dozen of boots, nearly finished, a quantity of boot fronts, half a dozen calfskins, and other stock, taken. No clue has been found as yet to the thief.

VANDALISM.—The residents in and around Lincoln Square have been greatly aided in locomotion during the moonless nights by the light of the street lamp on the store of J. Binney & Co., and it is with regret that we chronicle the destruction of such a public improvement by the rudeness of some unknown parties who last week stole the lamp and shattered the glass of the lantern. An indignant commentator on the outrage says the perpetrator deserves to be sent to the State Prison for 999 years.

A REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.—A caucus of the Republicans of this town was held at the Town Hall Friday evening, Sept. 24, and the following gentlemen were appointed delegates to attend the Congressional Convention at Quincy, Oct. 6, and also the Senatorial Convention.

A. P. Nash, Ziba Chesman, Alvah Raymond, Jr., L. H. Lord, Wm. M. Cornick, Henry Newton, Abner Paine, Alanson A. Holbrook, Lovell Bicknell, P. W. Cronin, Albert Tirrell, 2nd, Lemuel Torrey, Austin Tirrell, Edw. Nolan, Leonard B. Tirrell, Abner Holbrook, Alvin Vining.

The delegates to the Senatorial Convention were instructed to vote for Alvah Raymond, Jr., as the Democratic Candidate for State Senator in the Norfolk and Plymouth district.

A meeting of the Seymour and Blair Club will be held at the Town Hall, Monday, Oct. 5, at 7 1-2 o'clock. All favorable to the election of Seymour and Blair are invited to attend.

THAT COMICAL BROWN.—Those who believe (and who does not) in the old adage, "laugh and grow fat," should prepare to pucker, for that comical Brown, the chap that makes everybody "smile out loud" is to give one of his laughable musical treat at Lincoln Hall, Weymouth, Tuesday, next Thursday evening, Oct. 8th, when he will be assisted by Mr. William Hayward, the popular ballad singer, and one of the finest vocalists in the country. On Wednesday evening Oct. 7, Mr. Brown sang at South Weymouth, where as usual he will doubtless have a crowded house. Those who want seats must go early for there is always a rush to hear Brown. The programme this season is entirely new and very spicy.

SURPRISE PARTY.—Recently a number of the Hingham friends of Mr. Webster Burrell, of East Weymouth, conceived the plan of surprising that gentleman at his residence, which was carried into execution on Friday evening last. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather on that evening, a large party gathered in Haskins' mammoth omnibus, which was attached four horses, under charge of Mr. Osgood Wilder. The company comprised some of the most prominent citizens and their wives of the West part of the town, and were accompanied by the Hingham Brass Band, which was engaged to discourse music on the occasion. Arriving safely at Mr. Burrell's residence, they quietly took to make themselves at home. Mr. B. was completely surprised, and after recovering himself, heartily welcomed his friends, although, in the generosity of his heart, he regretted that he had not received reasonable notice of the event, in order that he might entertain his friends in the shape that he would wish.

His remarks, however, in this direction were cut short by the arrival of a wagon filled with abundance of the choicest edibles, thus utterly relieving the mind of Mr. B. in this respect. ## NORTH WEYMOUTH.

Horace Greely once said that if he had a month to spend for pleasure he would spend it in London. We doubt not but what a man with plenty of money, could spend a short time in London, but there are a great many other places which we think far preferable.

We know of no place where one can realize more pleasure than at Nantasket Beach, or on the rock bound shores of Cohasset. We believe that there has never been a year, when there has been so many excursions, picnics and campings out, as in the present season. Families in the city and country, and organizations of every kind, have taken their time to go somewhere, and we believe it is right they should; the mechanic that is shut up in his work shop, month after month, working hard at his trade, should, if possible, take one month in a year for recreation and pleasure, and every laboring man should have pay enough for his labor so that he can afford a little recreation.

We bid the Crispin God speed, if they can do anything that will benefit the laboring class, and at the same time do no injury to their employer. We believe that the organizations among different branches of trade, if they will be united, governed by right principles and work together, will very soon bring about a revolution in trade that will elevate the laboring class, and give to them the benefits of trade they so richly deserve.

Last week a kind providence favored us with a few days of vacation, and we were very glad to lay business aside for a little pleasure and rest. We believe in the old saying that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, and believing the rock bound shores of Cohasset to be the most popular place of resort on the Atlantic coast, we thought we would spend our vacation there; so in company with John Binney, Esq., and William Clark, Esq., of Upton, with our families we leased a house near the seaside for a few days, owned by Messrs. Lincoln & Wilson, of Boston. Most of our time was spent in gunning and fishing; there are excellent fishing grounds all along the shore; fish are caught in great abundance. We called one afternoon on our old friend, Col. Damon, of the Atlantic House, and were much surprised to find his house so well filled with boarders, at this season of the year; but the Col. is always on hand ready to do anything and everything to make his house a pleasant and a happy home to all, and we advise all who wish to spend a few weeks of vacation, to "take a walk" to Nantasket beach, the most popular place of resort on the shore; we found among those stopping at the Atlantic, quite a number of business men of Boston, and were introduced by the Col. to several of his guests; among them in particular, Mr. J. C. Caruth, who does business at 61 & 63 Blackstone street, Boston; he has been located for thirty-two years and occupies the oldest store on that street. Just as we arrived at the Atlantic, the Major, with a friend of his, had just come in from fishing; they had been out for one hour and brought in 35 trout, weighing 150 pounds, the largest land that has been made on the shore this season.

The weather becoming very cold we were obliged to return home, feeling that we had spent our vacation in a way beneficial to us all.

QUINCY.—Mr. Charles E. Miller, who is the owner of a very handsome pair of dark bay horses, had them placed recently on the Town Seales, and to the surprise of everybody, they were found out to be of the same weight, not varying one ounce, more or less, each weighing 1277 pounds. They are eight years old, measure the same in height, are of equal temperaments, and uncommon roadsters. We believe that another similar pair cannot be found in the United States.

There is a good prospect of having a new railroad depot. The old one has been sold the present week to Messrs. Henry G. Pratt, Jr. and James T. Pennington for about four hundred dollars. Part of the present depot is to be moved a few feet towards the Hancock House, and there to be used as a depot, while the new one is being built; the remainder of the old depot is to be pulled down or moved off soon.

The new building is to be of wood, and partly on each side of the tracks, with a narrow connection of about thirty feet in width to connect the parts.

A correspondent (N. B.) suggests an easy way to obtain an item of much interest to the religious population of Weymouth. Let the sextons and deacons of each society see that the attendance (morning and afternoon) at their respective churches on the next pleasant Sabbath of the season is counted and the figures sent to the Editor of the Gazette who will publish the following week the sum total showing the whole number of persons attending church in Weymouth on that day. This will show how large a percent of our population attend church in the most favorable weather.

A convenient place for a good dinner can be found at the Dining Rooms of D. L. H. Presbo, Nos. 19, 12 & 14, City Hall Avenue. They have separate apartments for gentlemen and ladies, and connected with the latter is a good corps of lady waiters, with all the conveniences for arranging the toilet &c. Their rooms are—as they deserve to be—well patronized.

HINGHAM, Sept. 25th, 1898.

Your valuable paper published last week contained a false statement, concerning the accident at North Weymouth, which I wish to correct. Mr. Otis (H. Randall and myself were on our way to North Weymouth, when we heard something of the accident, which was supposed to be a horse and carriage and turned out of the road. We were outside of the right hand turn, when Rev. C. Terry's son riding his father's horse, came into our buggy, throwing both of us out, and injuring us considerably. Thompson and Humphrey were in company with Terry. I saw Humphrey the next morning, and he said they were racing their horses, and when Terry came in front of his father's house he whipped up his horse, so that Humphrey could not get by him. If Terry had been driving at a reasonable rate, there would have been no accident, as his horse was walking. This is a true statement of the affair, which will be proved next February at Plymouth.

HINGHAM.—The annual fair of the Agricultural and Horticultural Society, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, occurred at the nick of time in regard to weather, being the only two pleasant days of the fortnight past, and the attendance was consequently very large from that and neighboring towns. Hingham boasts of many citizens well versed and enthusiastic in all that pertains to agriculture, horticulture and floriculture, and of course their public spirit culminates in displays of an attractive character.

A trial of mowers and rakers was an interesting feature of the fair. The competing machines were drawn up in line near the hall, and with the Judges and others, proceeded to the trial ground on the Society's land, headed by the South Weymouth Band, the whole followed by many hundreds of the people on the ground. The grass being light, the trial was not a fair test of the capabilities of the machines but the results as far as shown were satisfactory to the audience. The display of cattle, sheep and swine presented many specimens of blood stock, among the former being a recent importation from Europe belonging to Albert Fenwick, Esq.

The plowing match took place on the grounds about 10 o'clock in the forenoon. There were four double-yoke ox-teams, two single-yoke teams, and three teams of horses.

Trials of working oxen was contested by two yoke of cattle, belonging to John R. Brewer and David Whiton of Hingham; and Pyran Jacobs of South Hingham; and one yoke by Hiram Gardner and Hon. Albert Feenick of Hingham and the Weymouth Iron Works.

The annual address was delivered by Charles L. Flint, Esq., Secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Agriculture, on "The Methods of Farming."

Weston, the walkist, drew a great crowd on the second day, to witness his "ambush" of several amateurs who soon gave up the task and left him alone in his glory, and he finished his walk in style, without any apparent fatigue. We learned from Mr. W. that after he had arranged to appear at Hingham, he received an offer of $700 to walk at a fair in Rochester, N. Y. the same day.

At the annual dinner in the hall the rush of diners was so great that 300 tickets could have been sold. The hall was crowded, over 600 plates being laid, the dinner very good, and the addresses by several distinguished gentlemen, with a poem by Rev. Mr. Dyer, received with hearty applause.

The show in the lower hall was very large, fruit being predominant. There were many articles of utility and fancy drew the attention of the many visitors. Mrs. Henry R. Tirrell's exhibition of the new "Bickford Knitting Machine" was one of great interest to the ladies, the majority of whom were impressed with its superiority. The machine is simply an application of hand in doing precisely the same manner, and requiring no more care than when the needles are held in the hand, while such is the marvellous rapidity of its operation that seventy stitches can be set in a second. It is a decided improvement over all other machines of the same character, in its simplicity and perfection of operation, and is destined to become a feature of every household. Mr. Tirrell is the agent for Weymouth, Hingham, Quincy and Braintree, and we would earnestly advise the ladies to call on him at East Weymouth, and examine the machine.

Among other articles of manufacture, we noticed the improved Supporter exhibited by Mrs. L. Buck, of South Weymouth, one of the best articles of the kind in the market, also the "Advance" Cook Stove exhibited by Mr. Geo. W. White, ten, which has received over $1200 worth within a few weeks, and is making large sales.

The Advance is of the Magee manufacture, and the general favor which it has received is incontestable evidence in its favor.

A novel and practical horse sewer, invented by Mr. Edw. French, a native of Hingham, was prominent among the novelties. The hose is very strong and water tight, and must supersede all other kinds.

The musical instruments of Baker & Randall, of Boston, &c., exhibited by Mr. Geo. Baker, of Weymouth Landing, show the marked improvement which has been made in reed instruments by this firm, in quality of tone, compass and ease of action. With thorough finish in every part, they combine a cheapness of price which makes them universally popular. Fogg, Houghton & Co. of S. Weymouth, exhibited a fine lot of boots, and John P. Lovell & Sons an elegant case of guns and pistols.

Dr. H. Anders, a German chemist and a member of the Medical Faculty of New York city, after fifteen years' research and experiment, has discovered a method of dissolving (in pure water) this preparation (Dr. H. Anders' iodine water) has cured many cases of scrofula, ulcers, cancers, &c., that had resisted the action of all other remedies.

BRAINTREE.

The political situation is well understood, and the respective positions taken by both parties here. Both are on the alert and neither will be caught napping. The contest will therefore be an animated one throughout. But it is evident that the Democrats have done, (as in most places) just what Republicans were pleased to have them do. They opened the campaign with just bragadocho and false statements enough to make it virtually the first Grant & Colfax ratification meeting. They set the ball in motion and the Republicans have since kept it rolling on. Last Monday evening after an enthusiastic meeting, addressed by C. C. P. Moody and the eloquent Union, a Junior Tanager's Club is also being formed. The senior Club have made their headquarters in south room of the basement of N. Rosenfield's building near the Baptist Church. The month of October will be improved in still further advancing the strength and spirit of the Republican ranks.

Nothing new, other than in political matters appears to be spoken of now. How much can we do towards saving our country from a rebel and copperhead revolution if any one proposes anything new, the universal cry is "wait till after election." Our country is in danger, with all our institutions of Liberty and Equality under the laws. Grant and Peace, or Blair and war is inevitable.

The anniversary concert of the Union Fire Engine company, last Friday evening at the Town Hall was said to have been well attended and with the exception of a little rowdiness displayed by persons mostly from other towns, was a most creditable affair.

The Braintree Senatorial delegation are unanimous in their support of Hon. F. A. Hobart for that position, and all delegations from other towns so far as chosen, have signified the same preference.

FLAG RAISING AT NORTH WEYMOUTH.—Last Monday evening the republicans of Old Spain turned out en masse to witness the raising of two flags, one at the manufactory of A. R. Moulton, and the other on Sea street. By invitation of the committee, Tanners Battalion No. 1, paraded and marched to the corner of Middle street, where they were received by Battalion No. 2 and the "Young Zouaves," of East Weymouth Band, proceeded to the North Weymouth depot, where a delegation from Old Spain, headed by the North Weymouth Band, was awaiting the procession. The march was then continued through the principal streets, which were brilliantly lighted by illumination of many residences. Arriving at the factory of Mr. Moulton, which, with his residence, were splendidly illuminated with candles and lanterns, the assembly was called to order by Gen. B. F. Pratt, and Hon. F. A. Hobart, N. A. Langley, Esq., and James Humphrey, Esq., introduced as speakers. Their remarks having been concluded, the procession marched through Sea street to the place where the other flag was to be raised, a display of fireworks and colored lights adding to the effectiveness of the display.

The Band saluted the flag, as it was unfurled, and the speakers, Hon. E. S. Beals, Gen. Osborne, W. R. Emerson, Martin Hawes, and Farmer Allen, kept the audience in close attention till a late hour. At the conclusion of the services the "Tanners" were regaled with a collation at the store of J. W. Bartlett, Esq., and then returned home. Battalion 1 appeared for the first time in their new uniform of enameled cap, and white enameled capes, and made a fine appearance, parading with full ranks.

Battalion No. 2 was formed the same day, and though the time was limited, they presented a very good appearance, under command of Capt. F. B. Pratt.

Hon. M. M. Fisher, of the Board of County Commissioners, has been elected President of the Grant & Colfax Club in Medway.

There is no disease flesh is heir to more troublesome to manage than Rheumatism. It comes when you least expect it, and generally remains till it gets ready to go away. The most conspicuous remedy for this complaint is Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

Two or three doses of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders will cure a horse of any common cough or cold, and the very worst cases may be cured in a few weeks. We know this from experience.

SONG OF IRON.
I am mighty in the salter,
Flashed welded by the hove,
Gleaming in the starward steamer,
Launching at the stern and wave.
Beauteous in the palace pillars,
Singing in the pointed rods.
As it thrives the steadily lighting
Quelled and harmless to the nod.
But there is a glorious service,
Where I take my grandest power,
Giving to the rack my sweat,
Sweetest all, in danger's hour.
See before me fly disease!
See the darkest hydra bow,
See the nose of health and brow,
Take the palpit check and wave.
Fly dyspepsia! fly consumption!
Yes, all are crushed at length,
For I give what human nature
Only ever needed—STRENGTH!
Shall I tell in what great essence
I can show you spirit cheer up
Pallid, trembling, living sufferer?

How to Court is Cuteness—A young gentleman happened to sit at a table in a new adjoining one in which sat a young lady for whom he conceived a sudden and violent passion, was desirous of entering into a courtship on the spot, but this place not being suitable for a formal declaration the case suggested the following plan: He politely handed his fair neighbor a little opened—Second Epistle of John, verse 6—And now I beseech thee, not as I wrote a new commandment unto thee, but that which we had from the beginning, that we love one another.

She returned it, pointing to the second chapter of Ruth, tenth verse: 'Then she fell on her face, and bowed herself to the ground and said to him: Why have I found grace in thy eyes, seeing I am a stranger?'.

He returned the book, pointing to the thirteenth verse of the Third Epistle of John: 'Having many things to write unto you, I would not write with pen and ink, but I trust shortly to come unto you, and speak face to face, that our joy may be full.'

From the above interview a marriage took place the ensuing week.

Ma, if I should die and go to heaven, should I wear my more-anxious dress?

'No, my love; we can scarcely suppose we shall wear the attire of this world in the next.' 'Then tell me, ma, how the angels would know I belonged to the best society?'

'When a man loses a building lot is he blind? Don't know; but he has certainly been deprived of his site.'

An Irishman says he can see no earthly reasons why women should not be allowed to become medical men.

A young man wrote an article for a temperance paper, and quoted, 'Give me a cat in the valley I love,' which appeared, 'Give me a lot in the fellow I love.'

'You call that a trunk, do you?' growled a dejected porter. 'It only needs a lightning-rod to make it look like a boarding house.'

A man in Stratford, Connecticut, has made a picture frame out of one thousand and five hundred small pieces, with a pen-knife.

Tea kettles are decidedly Yankee in their melody—they sing through no 8.

'If your sister, while engaged with a sweetheart, asks you to bring a glass of water from an adjoining room, start on the errand, but you need not return. You will not be missed. Don't forget this little boy!'

'A young lady should be unhappy because she isn't quite as tall as she used to be to be. It is a very easy thing to get speed.'

'An editor down South says he has been sex-struck—had an eleven pounder.

For several weeks a rural journal kept at the head of the local column: 'How wanted at this office.'

'After days since the editor's wife presented him with a boy, which shows the value of advertising.'

'A countryman was sowing his ground as two smart fellows came riding along that way, when one of them called to him in an insolent air: 'Well, fellow, said he, 'it is your business to sow, but we shall reap the fruits of your hard labor.' To which the countryman replied: 'It is very likely you may, for I am sowing hemp.'

'How many regular, steady boarders are there in this house?' asked a census taker of a servant girl. 'There's fifteen boarders in all, sir; but not more'n four of 'em is steady persons, sir. The rest is Democrats.'

'Doctor, do you think that lying is bad for consumption?' 'Not at all, madam; it's what it lives on.'

'If Adam's life had been spared, it is said he would be 5863 years old on the 13th of next month. A respectable old gentleman.'

It was recently stated in a public address, that the run shops of New York, if placed in line, would extend on both sides of Broadway from the Battery to Central Park—ten miles of death-size centers high—four stories above ground, and two under. The estimated earnings of these slums of distilled damnation is not far from $20,000,000 per annum, while their cost to the community is simply incalculable. Indeed, so profitable has been this soul-ruining business, that its heartless prosecutors have been willing to pay for licenses to the Metropolitan Board of Excise, within the last thirteen months, the enormous amount of over two millions and six hundred thousand dollars—a sum sufficient to liquidate the entire debt of the city, within the next six years.

How to Cure a Cold.—The moment a man is satisfied he has taken cold let him do three things: First, cut nothing; second, go to bed, cover up in a room; third, drink as much cold water as he can, or as he wants, or as much herb tea as he can; and in three cases out of four, he will be well in thirty-six hours.

THE WEYMOUTH WEEKLY GAZETTE.

THE WEYMOUTH GAZETTE.

FRIDAY, OCT. 9, 1908.

GRAND CONVENTION.—The grand convention of the Weymouth Association, held at the Weymouth Hotel, was a most successful one. The attendance was large, and the program was well arranged. The speakers were of high caliber, and the music was excellent. The day was spent in a most enjoyable manner, and the convention was a great success.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3d, 1868.
Editor Weymouth Gazette.—Yesterday witnessed one of the grandest displays that ever took place in this city. The city was covered with bunting and flags, and in the evening ablaze with torches and general illuminations. The procession of "Boys in Blue" during the day, was more than five miles long, marching ten abreast, and numbering over twenty-five thousand war-worn, scarred and maimed veterans, carrying their shot-riddled and shell torn battle flags.

How will the soldiers vote in November? Will they vote to turn over the government to traitors, to Horatio Seymour and Frank Blair, the representatives of Jeff Davis and Robert E. Lee, or will they vote for the conqueror and prosperity to the country? We will vote as we see fit, the motto of one of the delegations, expresses the universal feeling of the citizen soldiers of the republic. They shot against Seymour's friends, but through all coming years. Loyal governors, loyal generals, and loyal soldiers, had come together again, for one last grand fight.

Burnside was there, as proud as when he set the armies of the Union in battle line against the legions of rebellion; Lincoln's eye kindled as of old, when he looked on some of his old cavalry; Owen and Sickles, and Geary, and Hawley, were there, earnest and determined as ever; Howard, as proud as on that morning when he held the key position to Gettysburg, for which he received the thanks of Congress; Gen'l Chamberlain, Governor of Maine, Janney, Chipman, and Crawford; Harrauff of Pennsylvania; Stevens, of New Hampshire; Kane, the original Bucktail; Farnsworth of Illinois, as good an orator as he was a fighter; Thayer of Nebraska, who commanded the troops of that young State on many a field, and now represents them in the U. S. Senate. From Massachusetts I noticed Gen'l Bartlett, who commanded the delegation, about 500 strong, from the Old Bay State; also Gen'l Chamberlain, Cunningham, Cols. Hutchings, Nettleton, Hovey, Carruth, and others, and a host of others, from all parts of the country. From your town I noticed Gen'l Pratt, Col. Bates, Capt. Pratt, and Mr. Vance, also many others from towns along the route of the Old Colony road. The honest, manly face of our Senator, Henry Wilson, was recognized by the crowd as he rode along, and cheers went up from him thousands of voices. The battalion of prisoners of war bearing small banners with the names of the prisoners in their hands, and suffering the tortures of those held upon earth, for the preservation of the Union, attracted great attention; cheers rent the air as they passed, and memory reverted at once to the atrocities committed on them, by the southern rebels and fiends during the war. The old flags, with their scars and marks of rebel hate, set the crowd wild with excitement; fluttering of banners from flagstaffs and windows, waving of handkerchiefs, thundering cheers, the hurrahs, the outpouring of one hundred thousand citizens, decoration of dwellings, booming of cannon, ringing of bells, joy of the populace, cheers of the children, and hurrahs of the men, all gave indication of the great love for him as a hero, and have the soldiers vote, in the coming contest of loyalty with treason. The men who saved the nation in war, will see to it that the results of the war are secured in peace. Grant's name was on all lips, an enthusiastic love for him was in all hearts.

Gen'l Burnside was President of the mass convention in Independence square the evening of Oct. 1st, and speeches were made by him, by Gen'l Geary, Gen'l Sickles, Gen'l Hawkins, Gen'l Kilpatrick, Palfrey, and many others. On the evening of the 2d an immense mass meeting was held on Market St. and in front of the Union League House. The street was crowded each way for a long distance, and the enthusiasm was indescribable. Four or five stands were erected at a sufficient distance from each other to accommodate the speakers and the immense crowd. The Union League House was resplendent with flags and banners, and upon its front, in many gas jets, shone the names "Lincoln," "Grant," "Colfax," "Sherman," "Sheridan," "Meade," "Thomas," "Farragut," "Howard," "Geary," and a large series of jets, reading, "Welcome to the Boys in Blue." Among the speakers this evening were Col. Forney, Gov. Geary, Gen'l Sickles, Senator Harlan, Gen'l Stevens, Ex Gov. Curtis, Gov. Hawley, Senator Wilson, Gov. Salomon, Gov. Miller, Major Pangborn, and others. The torchlight procession of the evening far eclipsed the procession of the day. In it were not only the "Boys in Blue" who marched during the day, but also the "Invincibles," 1000 strong, the "Campaign Club," nearly as large, "Tanners," Ward and Independent clubs, making the longest procession that ever paraded the streets of this city. The scene will never be forgotten in Philadelphia, and it is impossible to calculate its effect on the country in the election. It will recall the times of our trial and triumph, through the terrible war, whose fruits we are a few weeks hence, to assure forever. It was an interesting sight to see the men who had fought our country's battles, again gathered around their old leaders, listening to them in peace, as they had in other days during the war. Pennsylvania! The nation awaits your victory. With the Boys in Blue to lead the way, we cannot doubt that you will triumphantly win it.

SOUTH WEYMOUTH.

Sometimes 'tis amusing to listen to the keen and ready wit of trained politicians, who on the eve of important elections exercise marvellous tact and ingenuity in drumming up new recruits—tenderly and patronizingly button-holing the wavering. But sometimes these adroit trimmers encounter "Tartars" in lieu of comets. We subjoin the following colloquy, pronounced recently within the precincts of an Agricultural ground, between a Democratic P. L. L. and a Republican P. L. L.—Verbatim, to wit:

Dem. P. L. L. I understand that the "Prohibitionists" were dogged so squarely and effectually last year, as scheming to whittle us out of the License Law, by secretly exacting anti license pledges of Legislative candidates throughout the Commonwealth—presume you are looking up on these one idea operators?

Republican P. L. L. Yes, such stories are in circulation—don't affect me much—I'm in for National politics this fall, guess the rum question will slide at the Nov. election.

Dem. P. L. L. In the most critical moment you seem wanting in back bone; with such weak sister, like warm members, our organization would scatter like the winds—and the intolerant prohibitionists, victorious, flushed with triumph, wouldn't sleep or slumber till the liquor law of last session was repealed—the whole code blotted out.

Republican P. L. L. Can't be duped another year. Last fall I went in for free rum, we obtained a License Law, so stringent and exacting that only men of ample means and marked moral character could obtain a License, and only one in a town at that, ignoring exclusively the middle classes, you are wont to burp about, so lovingly.

Dem. P. L. L. Guess you have slid down on Liberal Legislation. Spurred on last year's platform, joined the Philistines again.

Republican P. L. L. If you count up on hood-winked the Republicans this year by blurring License, License, Rum, Rum, in all Massachusetts, you can reckon me among your "Lame Ducks."

Dem. P. L. L. Your expressions smack of "Tanning" and "Tanneries" in the pending Presidential campaign.

Republican P. L. L. The presumption is, that your concealed sentiments are in accord with such amiable patriots as Wade Hampton and the host of unrepentant blood stained and malingering rebels.

QUINCY.—An affray took place last Sunday, in South Quincy, between a Canadian named Crathello, and Mr. Alex. Garvin, in which the latter was stabbed in the leg, severing an artery, and causing a death in a few moments. Crathello was arrested by Sheriff French, and an inquest being held, a verdict was returned in accordance with the circumstances, and the accused was on Monday held in $3000 bonds for trial. The Justice said it was not a case of wilful murder, either in the first or second degree, but was a case in which he had no jurisdiction. It was a case of aggravated assault or self-defense, as he was overpowered by five or six assailants. Rum was probably the cause of the tragedy, as the parties were strangers and no previous cause for trouble existed. The accused is a Frenchman and does not appear like a ruffian.

The Second District Congressional Convention (Democratic) met in Quincy last Tuesday, and the Congress was elected. President, S. B. Thaxter; Vice Presidents, John Wilson of Colchester, A. Raymond, Jr. of Weymouth, Moses Bates of Bridgewater, R. W. Robinson of Dorchester, Charles Albry of Taunton, E. Fellows of Quincy, Henry Brown of Abington, Chas. Silvers of Hingham.

Secretaries—Robert Vose, Jr. of Dorchester, W. S. Pattee of Quincy, S. N. Linfield of Randolph. Hon. Edward Avery, of Braintree, was nominated by acclamation as candidate for Representative in Congress, and he addressed the Convention, in the course of his remarks saying that the responsibility of the war to some extent, was upon the Democratic party, in consequence of the division which they permitted in their own ranks in the year 1860. By this division their opponents got into position of unusual power, and notwithstanding the efforts of the Peace Congress, (and a consequence of the determination of the party in power that rather than yield one jot of their purposes, civil war might come) civil war came.

The committee to nominate a Mr. Committee reported as follows, and the report was adopted: S. B. Thaxter of Abington, C. Albry of Taunton, J. C. Pierce of Somerset, E. J. C. Stephenson of Hingham, Henry Hobart of East Bridgewater, Henry Holbrook of Weymouth, W. Brooks of Canton, A. Raymond, Jr. of Weymouth. The Committee on Credentials reported 16 towns, represented by 90 delegates.

S. B. Thaxter of Abington was unanimously elected candidate for Presidential Election.

EAST ABINGTON.—The Standard says: It is frequently remarked by those who are opposed to having a fire department in this town, that the cost of maintaining one would, in the end, be far greater than the losses incurred by fire. They pretend to speak from experience; but if the losses by fire during the last year and a half in this town, be any criterion to judge from, their ideas of the cost of maintaining a fire department must be immense, or else they hit wide of the mark.

The amount of property destroyed by fire here since June, 1867, as near as can be determined, is as follows: June 11, 1867, dwelling house, owned by Isaac Lane, East Abington, $1000.

September 15, 1867, dwelling house of Janus Keen, East Abington, $1800. January 21, 1868, mansion and other buildings, East Abington, valued at about $30,000.

April 23, 1868, dwelling house of John Russell, Centre Abington, $1000. September 23, 1868, dwelling house and stable of John Lane, East Abington, $20,000.

In addition to these the house and stable of Nahum Reed of South Abington was burned last fall, whose loss we were unable to ascertain. These, exclusive of the property of Mr. Reed, which amounted to several thousand, make a total of $38,800—enough to purchase twenty-five first class engines, with several thousand to spare.

BRAINTREE.
Notwithstanding the amount of time expended at the present time in political matters, there are other matters of some public interest, to which it may not be out of place to call the attention of the readers of the Gazette.

The Young Men's Christian Association.—This association holds its meetings weekly for prayer and conference in the Lyceum Hall building. Their business meetings occur on the first Wednesday evening of each month. At the present time, they also hold a 5 o'clock prayer meeting in the West District school house, on Sunday afternoons. It has been quite well attended. Howard Gannett, the President of the Association, is a young man of large experience, and good business ability, having had connection with several departments of christian effort in Boston, from which place he removed to Braintree a few years since, coming from the Rowe St. Baptist Church to the First Baptist Church in Braintree. For most of the time of his residence in Braintree he has most successfully and ably filled the position of Superintendent of the Baptist Sabbath School, with the exception of the last year, when he was relieved on account of ill health, his place being well filled by Wm. Fred. Fernald, another experienced and eminently successful superintendent, coming a few months before from the Shawmut Avenue Baptist Church, Boston. Mr. Gannett, having since recovered his health, has at the most urgent request of the Sabbath School, resumed his position. Mr. Fernald having resigned in his favor, on account of other pressing duties.

Last Sabbath evening the first monthly concert of the Sabbath School, under his charge, was a most successful and interesting one. The singing was excellent, the verses recited quite numerous, the subject being the promises of God. The speakers were brief in their remarks and pointed in their illustrations. Those who thus favored the large congregation present were Howard Gannett, Rev. Mr. Richardson who is supplying for the Congregational church on the hill, Rev. Mr. Topliff of Cambridge who exchanged with Rev. Mr. Medberry who supplies the Baptist pulpit, and Mr. N. A. Langley, a teacher in the Sabbath School. The occasion was one of much interest.

Business Interests.—Boot business is said to be good; the Boston Hat Co. are increasing their business in the great shop at the depot, and other interests seem to be in a good state. Property is changing hands some. Mr. Elias Holbrook, of Middle Street, has sold the place on which he now resides, to parties in Boston, for a good sum. The house of Mrs. Edwin Bradford is nearly finished, on the cross road between Summer and Taylor streets, in the South Village. The building has been rebuilt from a boot shop. Mr. J. H. Parsley has placed his house and land in the hands of E. F. E. Thayer, real estate agent, and it is said that certain parties are about to close a bargain at $1600 or $200.

The Good Templars meet regularly at the Town House, in one of the small rooms. They propose a public exhibition of something of the sort, to raise a fund, as soon as preparations can be made after election.

The Turners have got their uniforms, and displayed them with good effect on Wednesday evening of this week. They have a large transparency ready to place over their headquarters, with the names of Grant & Colfax in large letters. They carry in their procession a banner, on one side the device "Turner Club No. 1, Old Braintree," on the other side the inscription "The Order of Turners is a large transparency ready to place over their headquarters, with the names of Grant & Colfax in large letters. They carry in their procession a banner, on one side the device "Turner Club No. 1, Old Braintree," on the other side the inscription "The Order of Turners is a large transparency ready to place over their headquarters, with the names of Grant & Colfax in large letters. ### SOLDIERS AND SAILORS MASS. CONVENTION.—Torch Light Procession.

The State Central Committee of Soldiers and Sailors of Massachusetts, of which Gen. B. F. Pratt of this town, is member for the 2d Cong. District, met at the Parker House, Thursday, Oct. 8th, and organized by the choice of Gen. Horace Binney, Sergeant, as Chairman, and Major J. Waldo Denney, Secretary. It was voted to call a Mass Convention of Soldiers and Sailors on Wednesday, Oct. 28, at 2 P. M., in Faneuil Hall, at which it is expected there will be a general assembling of the "Boys in Blue" from all the New England States. It is expected that Gen. Burnside, Gov. of N. H., Gen. Chamberlain, Gov. of Maine, Gen. Harriman, Gov. of N. H., Gen. Hawley, of Conn., and many others, will be present. It was also voted to unite in the grand Grant and Colfax torch light procession of the evening of Oct. 28, and that the organizations of "Veteran Boys in Blue" and "Boys in Blue" be formed as far as practicable as follows:—Companies to consist of fifty or more including Capt. and two Lieuts., and that where there are four companies in the same vicinity, or near each other, formed into a battalion, and where there are more than four companies, to form a regiment. Voted, that organizations of the "Veteran Boys in Blue" be composed of those only, who have seen service during the war, and organizations of the "Boys in Blue" be composed of Soldiers and Civilians together, who rally round the Banner of Grant and Colfax. Voted, that all organizations of "Grant and Colfax" men be invited to attend, and take part in the procession on the evening of the 28th.

The Chairman and Secretary, Col. Atwood, Commander Churchill (of the navy), and (Gen. F. A. Osborne, are a committee with full power, to make all necessary arrangements for the Convention. It is expected that Gen. Banks will preside at the Convention.

A motion was made that the 28th should be a fine day, the Convention should be held on the Common, but after discussion it was left with the Committee. Favorable arrangements will probably be made for transportation, and for late trains on that night. It is expected that this will be one of the largest gatherings of the Veterans of the War, ever held in Boston, and that the torch light procession in the evening, will be the largest and most magnificent that ever paraded its streets.

Gen. Francis A. Osborne has been appointed Chief Marshal of the Procession.

A rare book entitled "I was Lean and I became Stout," published by A. Williams & Co., presents the subject of "Nutrition," in novel and interesting style. The author, "Mr. Glute," represents his progress from excessive leanness to comfortable adipose in a humorous narrative of fortunate and unfortunate circumstances attendant upon each state, while a mass of information in relation to the means whereby the nourishment of the body is maintained and promoted, is interwoven with the narrative, making the work one of much value to all. It is sold at the low price of 25 cents.

Considerable debate occurred in the Republican Senatorial Convention Monday, on the questions of "boating" the candidate and availability of different grounds for the position. The nomination of Mr. Hobart was approved by one of the speakers, who argued that the nomination properly belonged to one of the Plymouth County towns of the District. The Weymouth delegation were united in presenting James Humphrey, Esq., as a candidate; the Hingham delegation were solid for Crocker Wilder, of that town, while the town below were pretty strong for Mr. Oakman, of Marshfield. Mr. Humphrey, however, withdrew his name, and the nomination of Mr. Hobart was made unanimously.

LYCEUM LECTURES.—The Regular Course of Lectures annually given in the Universalist church, will commence November 9th, course to be opened by Rev. G. T. Flanders, of Nashua N. H. To be followed by P. T. Barnum, and other eminent lecturers.

The elections in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, on Tuesday, excited much interest from their bearing on the Presidential election, and many from this vicinity visited the city in the evening, to gain intelligence of the result. The Journal and Traveller insert extras through the evening, dribbling out a few figures of returns in each issue, but the strongest indication of certain intelligence having been received was evidenced in the closing up of the Post, Courier and Herald offices early in the evening. The elections having resulted in the victory of the Republican party, the Presidential contest is decided in favor of Grant, who will probably have a very large majority in the entire vote.

UNION NORFOLK AND PLYMOUTH SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

The Republicans of this District met at Kimball's Hotel, West Scituate, Monday, Gen. B. F. Pratt of Weymouth, Chairman of the Committee, called the meeting to order, and read the call. On motion of J. Q. A. Lathrop of Cohasset, Gen. B. F. Pratt of Weymouth was chosen temporary chairman, and D. J. Bates of Cohasset, temporary secretary.

On motion of Col. G. H. Bates of Scituate, the following were chosen a Committee on Permanent Organization: G. Bates, Scituate; H. A. Turner of South Scituate; S. A. Bates of Braintree; J. K. Cortell of Hingham.

The Committee on Permanent Organization reported the following list of officers:

President—Col. H. A. Oakman, Marshfield.
Vice Presidents—J. Q. A. Lathrop, Cohasset; Capt. C. W. Hastings, Weymouth; S. H. Vinal, South Scituate; J. O. Cole, Scituate; Hiram Bates, Haverhill; J. K. Cortell, Hingham; J. Porter, Braintree.

Secretaries—D. J. Bates, Cohasset; J. S. Drew, Scituate; J. M. Corbett, Hingham.

The Committee on Credentials reported 8 towns with 67 delegates, all towns fully represented but Hull.

It was voted to proceed to an informal ballot for Senator with the following result:

Whole number of votes 67
Hon. F. A. Hobart of Braintree had 32
James Humphrey of Weymouth 18
Crocker Wilder of Hingham 12
Col. H. A. Oakman of Marshfield 5
James Humphrey withdrew his name.

Voted to proceed to a formal ballot.

Whole number of votes 67
Necessary to a choice 34
Hon. F. A. Hobart had 42
Crocker Wilder 18
Col. H. A. Oakman 7

On motion of T. B. Porter of Weymouth, Hon. F. A. Hobart was declared the unanimous choice of the convention.

On motion, Gen. B. F. Pratt, J. O. Cole, James Humphrey, were appointed a committee to wait upon the nominee, and request his presence in the hall.

The Committee retired, and soon returned with Mr. Hobart who was received with applause and introduced by the President in a few pertinent and appropriate remarks.

He commenced by stating that he appeared before them in obedience to a summons which he did not feel at liberty to disobey, not however to detain the Convention with a lengthy speech, or to enter into an elaborate discussion of the great questions, or the great political issues, which are before the people of the country. Having been informed by the committee of the Convention of the result of its deliberations, he said that he felt that he should do justice to his own feelings, did he not embrace the opportunity to appear personally before them and express his grateful acknowledgments and his heartfelt thanks for this renewed expression of the confidence of delegates representing the Republican Party of the District in again tendering him the honor of a nomination as their candidate for Senator. In accepting the nomination he would only promise that if their action should be ratified by the people at the polls, he should enter upon the discharge of the responsible duties incumbent upon him, with an honest and earnest determination and purpose to discharge those duties in a manner that would prove acceptable to the people of the District, and that he would uphold and defend the principles of the great Republican Party, which carried the old flag, and the people of this country, through that painful and bloody contest with rebellion, from which we have just emerged.

The issues involved in the political contest before us, are of vital and momentous importance, and upon the result of that contest, depends the future welfare, stability and peace of the country. He said that the success of the Democratic party would be a triumph of the rebellion, and an acknowledgment that during the war we were all wrong, and all we have suffered and endured, all the sacrifices we have made, all the treasure expended, and the blood that has been shed has been in vain, for their candidate, Horatio Seymour, stands before the world as the representative of the "lost cause" and is supported by every unpardoned and unrepentant rebel in the land; and their platform, constructed by traitors, is revolutionary and treasonable in every plank.

The success of the Republican party would demonstrate that the people are determined to maintain and reap the fruits of the war, and to defend what was achieved by the valor of our soldiers upon the field of battle, and a declaration that they intend to retain the honor of the old flag and the destinies of the nation in the hands of the loyal people of the country. The men who subverted the rebellion shall be the men who to settle all questions arising from it.

He congratulated them upon the bright and auspicious aspect of the political horizon, as from all over the country there came the most cheering intelligence and the most positive assurance that under the leadership of our great captain, Gen. Grant, we should on the 3d of November achieve a glorious victory at the ballot box, over treason and rebellion. The last ditch would be reached, and in that ditch would be buried the last remnants of disloyalty, for with Gen. Grant at the head of the nation we should hear no more threats of secession or war, but the country would go on in a career of prosperity and peace unequalled in its former annals.

In conclusion he stated that he had no promises to make as to his course of action upon any specific measures of legislation, but he felt that he spoke the united sentiments of the Republicans of the District in declaring that he should esteem it a privilege and an honor to cast his vote for the re-election of that distinguished statesman and true patriot, that long tried and firm friend of liberty and equal rights, who had so faithfully defended the honor of our old Commonwealth in the councils of the nation—Charles Sumner.

James Humphrey Esq., next addressed the convention in an able and eloquent manner, showing that the cause in which we are engaged is that in which the rights of man are to be acknowledged, when we in old Massachusetts are to decide whether all men are born free and equal, and can have their rights sustained; that we are leading the vanguard of the civilized world, and we shall be recognized as such, after we have crushed rebellion, and shown by our ballots we mean to keep it subdued. Dr. Dearing of Braintree, Woburn of Weymouth, and other delegates, humorously and eloquently addressed the convention, but space forbids a farther synopsis of their remarks.

The following were chosen a District Committee for the ensuing year: J. Q. A. Lathrop, Cohasset; Geo. D. Willis, Braintree; Gen. B. F. Pratt, Weymouth; J. O. Cole, Scituate; J. K. Cortell, Hingham; A. Vining, Hull; E. Hall, Marshfield; Hiram Bates, Haverhill.

Voted, that the proceedings of this convention be published in the Hingham Journal, Weymouth Gazette, and Boston Journal. With cheers for the candidates of the Republican Party, the convention dissolved at 3 o'clock P. M.

DANIEL J. BATES, Sec'y.

ADMITTED TO THE BAR.—On the Superior court at Dedham, on Tuesday, Oct. 13th, before Judge Putnam, on motion of Hon. Edward Avery, Patrick W. Cronin, Esq., of this town, was admitted to practice in all the Courts of this Commonwealth, as Attorney and Counselor at Law. We understand that Mr. Cronin leaves immediately for Lawrence, where he intends to practice his profession.

HOUSEBREAKING.—The series of housebreaking exploits at South Weymouth last week resulted in small returns to the operators. At the house of Dr. Howe the contents of the pantry were appropriated; at Augustine Lord's silver ware to the amount of about $30 was taken; at the residences of Capt. Stowell, D. S. Murray, and others, the thieves were foiled in attempting an entrance. Lawyer Kilton lost all his melons in the raid.

GALA DAY.—Tomorrow afternoon the Howard Base Ball Club of North Bridgewater, and the Pilgrims of Abington, will finish the game which was commenced at the time of the Fair, at the Agricultural Grounds, South Weymouth, and there will also be trots between Weymouth Boy, and Hemiotta, Johnny Wade, Fancy, Democrat and Republican.

At the Republican Senatorial convention of the 2d Norfolk district Tuesday, Charles Marsh of Quincy, was nominated by acclamation.

At the county convention the following nominations were made:

For District Attorney—Edward L. Pierce.

Sheriff—J. W. Thomas of Dedham.

County Commissioner—David H. Bates of Braintree.

Register of Probate and Insolvency—Jonathan H. Cobb of Dedham.

Special Commissioners—Amos H. Holbrook of Bellingham and Galen Orr of Needham.

Commissioners of Insolvency—W. E. Jewett, F. D. Ely, Thomas F. Temple.

The street lamp smashing which occurred at J. Binney & Co's store a short time ago, was repeated last week, the lantern being ruined and the lamp stolen. The matter was brought up at the town meeting last Monday, and the Selectmen instructed to offer a reward for the detection of the offender.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.—Rev. G. H. Vibbert, who delivered an excellent temperance address in Lincoln Hall recently, will lecture in the vestry of Rev. Mr. Waldron's church, East Weymouth, on Monday evening next, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

The Shrewsbury Farmer's Club held its first Agricultural exhibition and cattle show in Shrewsbury Centre, on Wednesday last. A poem was delivered at the dinner table, by Rev. E. P. Dyer formerly of Hingham.

BRAINTREE.

The Silver Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Vinton of Braintree was celebrated at their residence on Tuesday evening. Dr. T. H. Dearing presided as Master of ceremonies, in an able and agreeable manner. His introductory address was replete with appropriate and pithy remarks, suitable for the occasion. Rev. Jonas Perkins, who joined the bride and bridegroom 25 years since, gave cheering and congratulatory remarks. Two good poems were read, one of them being given and composed by Edward I. Humphrey, who is apparently in love with the Muses judging from the number of good poems which have thus far come from his poetical pen. Mr. and Mrs. Vinton are both of pleasing and agreeable address, and easy in carriage, and unmistakably evince that they know how to make the most of life, especially married life. Mr. Vinton is the Superintendent of Dr. Starr's Sabbath School. Mrs. Vinton is of the family of Nash, of Weymouth, who were present in large numbers. The presents were costly and many.

In one plate, were presented 200 silver half dollars. Silver spoons, butter knives and so forth, filled up the remainder of the gifts. The recipients appear to be both under 50 years of age, of sound health, and their friends look forward to a long life to the couple and hope a Golden Wedding may not be beyond their limit of conjugal fruition.

The Funeral of the late Mrs. Kimball, widow of the late Horace Kimball, M. D., took place Wednesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Thus while we rejoice with and honor the living, we are called to memorialize the dead. Mrs. Kimball was a daughter of Moses Holbrook, of Braintree, and leaves a large circle of friends. Antoinette Holbrook was a lady of uncommon intellectual and social faculties. As a teacher for most of the time since her 15th year, as a scholar, and especially as a clear, correct, and attractive reader and speaker of poetry and dialogue, she early won the reputation which we all remember with pleasure. Ah! those musical utterances, the peculiar, inspiring effect of those early efforts; who can forget? The Old Braintree Academy, on the hill, now extinct, let those walls tell the echoes that once reverberated at the sound of that voice, sweet and deeply soul stirring.

To those poetic effusions of patriotism, of country, liberty and kindred subjects, let those throbbing hearts and swelling bosoms of her contemporaries witness; let those hails speak, where her voice has been heard. She was a most successful teacher. Many pupils owe to her a debt of gratitude. Her work was well performed. Since her marriage, but a few short months or years at most, she has endeavored herself to a large circle of friends in the city of New York, where she has resided with her husband. Rev. Ruel B. Moody, her former pastor, preached the funeral sermon at the Baptist church. She was a Christian and an earnest worker in the cause of her Master. Her example was in many respects worthy of imitation, and the remembrance of her should inspire those who know her to the imitation of her good qualities.

The Flag Raising at Henry Gardner's Monumental Steam Mill Wednesday evening, called out several hundreds of people to join in the ceremonies, all seeming so jubilant over the glorious political victories, that in the language of one of the speakers of the evening, they did not come to hear arguments but to shout, shout, shout, Victory, victory, victory. Hon. F. A. Hobart introduced the speakers, with a few pithy remarks. As French, Esq., Col. James L. Bates, Chaplain N. M. Gaylord. The speaking was advertised to come off at the iron works school house, but the Democrats, who control the district, took possession and hoisted at the entrance, banners with them. What is gained by such tricks, it is hardly easy to conceive, but it is democratic. I suppose, so to do. It is presumed that the Democrats of East Braintree with such moves, are trying to emulate the Baltimore rioters. The meeting was therefore held at Gardner's Mill, and went off well. The Tanners of Braintree, Quincy and Weymouth made an imposing appearance, with the Weymouth band for music. After the speaking the procession marched up Front street, Weymouth, where E. A. Hunt brilliantly illuminated with reflecting lights, thence the procession repaired to Lincoln Hall and partook of a beautiful collation furnished by Mr. Gardner. Reson.

BASE BALL.—A friendly game of ball was played on Saturday last, at East Weymouth, between the Alki B. C. and Mechanics B. B. C., the former being victorious by a score of 44 to 13.

TOWN MEETING.

At the meeting held last Monday, it was voted to accept the report of the Selectmen in favor of laying out the road to Bradley's fertilizer works at the Neck. The improvement was opposed by one gentleman, who argued that the road would be a benefit only to the works, and consequently was an unnecessary expense to the town. On the other hand it was claimed that it would be a convenience to some two hundred residents of the town, and that the expense would be returned to the town in the way of taxes paid by Mr. Bradley.

The White's Lane road at South Weymouth was also accepted.

The amount of additional expenditure on the soldiers monument at North Weymouth ($323.20) was appropriated to pay the bills for the same.

On motion of Mr. A. B. Wales, it was voted that the Selectmen be instructed to offer a reward for the detection and conviction of the person or persons who maliciously destroyed the street lantern on the store of Messrs. J. Binney & Co.

RANDOLPH.—The fire department of Randolph participated in a grand parade on Wednesday last, and dedicated the new engine house of the Fire King Co. A procession was formed at 1 P. M., and marched till 5 P. M., through the town, attracting a large concourse of people. The procession was composed as follows: Fire King Co., Capt. Lathrop, 51 men, Randolph Band; Independence Co., Capt. Mann, 62 men, Weymouth Band; Aquarius Co., Capt. E. Holbrook, 45 men, Hull's Boston Cornet Band; Fearless Co., Capt. Thayer, 45 men, Dorchester Band; Star Base Ball Club; invited guests; Selectmen; Chief Engineers; officers of Union Engine Co., Weymouth.

The route having been passed over, the procession repaired to Stearns Hall, where a bountiful collation was served, with speeches by J. W. Belcher, Esq., and V. H. Deane, Esq. J. B. Thayer, Esq., presided and read the toasts.

Mr. E. W. Smith of So. Weymouth, the well known ice dealer, was thrown from his carriage on Tuesday afternoon, and severely injured.

Tanner's Battalion, No. 1, Weymouth, attended the political demonstration at North Abington, last week.

FLAG SONG OF TRIUMPH.
Time, The Legion.
Alot Columbia's flag is flying,
And it rally the boys in blue,
And should a foe, that flag defying,
Approach, your country will trust to you.
Well it is known our patriots never
Dishonor the flag of the brave and free,
Some aloft it shall float forever,
Triumphant over the land and sea.
The stripes and stars are the freeman's banner,
It waves a blessing to all mankind;
That flag the nation's delight to honor,
And welcome over the world 'twill find.
On the hill top and down in the valley,
Over the lakes and over the sea,
The boys in blue to the bugle rally,
Around the flag of the brave and free.
The wrong'd from every clime and nation
Are swarming over the stormy brine,
And joyful seal to the obligation
To guard and honor our holy shrine;
Wave it aloft, our country's banner,
Salute it with cheers from shore to shore,
The sign of justice of faith and honor,
Shall wave in triumph till time's sun ebb.

THE PALM OF SUPERBILITY IS AWARDED to Mrs. S. A. ALLEN for her Imagined (one copy) HAVE REMOVED OR DRESSING (for one bottle) and a grateful public appreciates the very low price, One Dollar. Every Druggist sells it.

Sterne says, "The body and mind are like a jerkin and jerkin's lining, rumple the one, and you rumple the other." Nothing more true than the necessity for strong bodies for any purpose, therefore, use at the first symptoms of falling power, or the first ill feeling, regular doses of that marvelous regenerator and strengthener of the body, which is referred to by Rev. Dr. T. H. Dearing, as "the most feeble and infirm." Druggists sell the latter.

SONG OF IRON.

I am mighty in the saber,
Fiercely wielded by the brave,
Glorious in the stalwart steamer,
Laughing at the storm and wave.
Beauteous in the palace pillars,
Savory in the pointed rod,
As it brings the deadly lightning
Quelled and harmless to the sod.
But there is a glorious essence,
Sweetest and in danger's hour,
Giving to the rack my spirit,
Where I take my grandest power.
See! before me fly diseases!
See the darkest hydra bow,
See the rose of health and beauty
Takes the palest cheek and brow.
Fly dyspepsia! fly consumption!
Yes, allills are crushed at length,
For I give what human nature
Only ever needed—STRENGTH!
Shall I tell in what great measure
I can thus your spirits cheer?
Pallid, trembling, dying sufferers,
Try the famous "PERUVIAN SYRUP."
"To the famed 'PERUVIAN SYRUP'—
The genuine has 'PERUVIAN SYRUP' blown in the glass.

CHANGE IN THE ELEVATION OF LAND.

A remarkable evidence of the change in the relative level of land and sea is afforded on the Bay of Fundy, a few miles north of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia. Here, at a distance of at least a quarter of a mile from the beach, are the distinct water marks of a former sea level. A line runs along the face of the ledge, well defined, and below its level minute sea shells, and even petrified kelp have been found in the interstices of the rock. Now the limit of the waters of the bay, even at the highest tides, is distant from the ancient sea level at least twelve hundred feet, which is a gradually shelving plateau of sand, shells, gravel, and stones, unproductive of vegetation except a few patches of sedges. The absence of soil would seem to denote that the change in land level here was comparatively modern, and the land intervening between the present and former water line, being composed of the same materials as the sea bottom, seems to indicate that the bottom has been exposed either by its rising or the subsidence of the water.

We remember, when a boy, fishing in a little cove of Narragansett Bay under the shadow of a grove, the trees of which grew within a few feet of the high tide line, so near that when landing the boat's "painter," some fifteen feet long, was usually tied to one of the trees. When last there, the water line had receded from the trees about fifteen feet on a shelving shore, the relative level of the sea and land having changed at least twenty inches in about as many years. Curious to know the reason, and believing the wash of the rains had gradually filled the bed of the estuary, we tested the matter by a simple experiment. There was a flat submerged rock, about forty feet from the shore, on which, at high tide, there was about four feet of water. Now there was at the same state of the tide in the same month of the year, by measurement, only twenty-eight inches of water on the rock. No accumulation of sand washings could have produced this result; the bottom of the estuary had risen or been lifted up twenty inches in twenty years.

The changes made by the washing of the surf in gradually undermining and encroaching upon the land are noticeable on almost all exposed shores unless guarded by cliffs of stone. Many of our seaside watering places give marked evidences of such encroachments. Summer seats which a few years ago possessed fruitful grounds or verdant lawns sloping towards the water, have lost these pleasant appendages, and in some cases the sites of houses and a grove have been threatened, if not made dangerous, by these encroachments. The writer from whom we have quoted says, further, in relation to these encroachments on the coast of New Jersey: "This wearing effect of the waves is especially visible in the Southern part of this State. On the Atlantic shore of Cape May County, from fifteen to thirty feet from the high, many of them covered with living trees, have been washed away, and their places supplied by flat and sloping sands. In some sections they wear away more rapidly than in others. Dr. Leaning and other residents of the vicinity think that the Seven Mile Beach opposite Seaville has worn away one hundred yards during the past twenty years.

The shore in front of the boarding-house at Cape Island must have worn nearly a mile since the Revolutionary War. This is the opinion of Mr. Ezekiel Stephens, whose father resided on the spot. During the Revolution a militia artillery used to practice firing at this point. Their gun was stationed near a house which stood just beyond the present shore line, and their target was just three-quarters of a mile east. Beyond this beach extended for nearly a quarter of a mile before reaching the shore. The sea has washed away the whole of this ground, and one of the boarding-houses has been removed twice to escape being swept away. Within a few years the bank has been protected by a covering of cedar brush, and the wear has not been so perceptible.

A remarkable evidence of the wearing of the bay shore of the country is related. The grandmother of Aaron Leaning was buried in 1891, at Town-bank, in a graveyard some distance inside of the town. In 1784, the graves were about fifty rods from the shore, and ruins of the houses were apparent. Now the grave yard has been washed away, and at dead low-water mark, the marks of three walls, remnants of the town built between the shore and the graveyard, can be seen. Mr. Price,

ALLIE'S GIFT.

It was in June, when the roses were blushing in myriads together, and the air was laden with their perfume, that Richard Crandall, with a small bundle in his hand crept from the house stealthily, and darted quickly away. The sun had not yet risen, and everything was quiet and still in the morning twilight. He stole along the little path in the orchard and soon stood in front of a large white house, surrounded by trees and flowers of almost every variety. No one was stirring within; all was silent as the tomb. He looked long and wistfully toward one of the windows of the house, and at last he called timidly to the sleeper within.

Allie, he said, Allie, look out of the window. No answer was made, and he called again, this time with more boldness. The shutter was thrown open, and a bright head, with its wealth of golden curls, appeared at the window.

Allie, whispered the boy, I am going away, and I wanted you to come down and see me before I go. I'll be down in a minute, was answered, in a pretty, childish voice. And the golden curls disappeared.

In a few moments, which seemed like hours to the anxious boy, the door was opened cautiously, and Allie Drummond came stealing out. Her shoes were untied, and her pretty curls had been neither combed nor brushed that morning. Dick, said she, are you running away? Yes, said the lad, in a solemn tone, and I'm going to stay till I am a rich man. I can't bear to stay till I am a rich man, and be treated like a dog; though if another were alive I'd bear anything rather than leave her.

The sweet, blue eyes of the little girl were filled with wonder and sympathy. Dick, said she, I shan't take any more comfort after you are gone; but you will be much happier, and I'm glad you are going, and when you get to be a great man, and are rich, then you can come back, and we will be married together, and never part any more.

Yes, said Dick, that is just what I am going to do; but it will be a good many years before I can come back, and you'll see a great many handsome men, and you may forget me. Forget you! Why, Dick, you know better, said the child, putting if. If I never come back, I'll never get married in all the world. Are you going to the great city that Uncle Alden told us about.

I don't know, Allie, said the boy; I have only five dollars, and that will not carry me far. I shall go to the city if I can. They were silent a moment, then Allie said: Dick, I must give you a keepsake, so that you'll not forget to come back to me. Wait here a moment till I come. Softly she stole into the house and up to her room.

Now, said she to herself, he has got only five dollars, and I'll give him the money papa gave me yesterday to buy that necktie I liked so much. She drew it from her purse, a five-dollar bill. That will make ten dollars, said she; out what are ten dollars? Sister Jane pays ten dollars a week for her board.

She went to a trunk, and taking there from a little white box, she opened it, and there lay a beautiful diamond-pin. Aunt Emma gave me this, said she, softly, to wear when I am grown up; but they say that it is worth a great deal of money, and I would much rather have it than wear it myself.

So she placed the five dollars beside it in the box, and tied the cover on snugly; and putting it in her pocket, she glided down the stairs again and out to the great elm-tree where Dick was waiting for her. Now, Dick, said she, promise me that you will not open this box till tomorrow night. I promise, said Dick; and I thank you for the gift, Allie, whatever it may be. A stir was heard in the house, and the sun was coming up behind the hills. I must go now, Allie, said the boy, with tears in his eyes. Kiss me, and don't forget me.

Mrs. Jellyjohn have you raised any pears out at your place yet? asked Mrs. Pumpers. Why, no; I have had no pairs. All my brats came single.

My son, said a man of doubtful morals, putting his hand on the head of a young urchin, I believe Satan has got hold of you. I believe so too, the urchin replied.

An African gentleman recently saw over a grocery store a sign, inscribed, Sugar-cured hams. He entered the place and asked the price. He solicited and obtained permission to smell a ham. Having done this, he abruptly turned to leave. Don't you want any of that ham? asked the grocer. Well, no, boss, was the reply; der sign reads sugar-cured hams; dat ham's sick yet; my advice to you is to change de medicine.

Madeira wine has a very curious property of expansion. For many years past only one thousand casks have been made annually, and yet more than two hundred thousand casks are sold in the same time.

A strange man once met Dr. E.—in the street, and asked him to lend him a small sum of money. How, said the doctor, can you apply to me for such a favor? I do not know you. Oh, my dear sir, replied the stranger, it is for that reason I ask you, for those who know me won't lend me a cent.

An old miser, who was notoriously parsimonious, being ill, was obliged reluctantly to consult a doctor. What shall I do with my head? said the old man, it's so dizzy I seem to see double. The doctor wrote a prescription and retired—When you see double, you will find relief if you count your money.

Will Hamilton, the half-wit of Ayr, was hanging about the vicinity of a loch, which was partially frozen. Three young ladies were deliberating as to whether they should venture upon the lake's surface, and one of them suggested that Will should be asked to walk on it first. Though I'm daft, I'm no ill-bred, quickly responded Will; after you, ladies.
